YOUNG INVESTIGATOR TRAVEL AWARDS

A limited number of travel awards for young investigators will be available to support conference attendance. These individuals might be graduate students, residents, fellows, young faculty members, physicians or Ph.D. level scientists who are no more than five years beyond their last residency, fellowship, postdoctoral training or other comparable training experience. To apply for an award, please submit a CV and one letter of reference with your meeting abstract.
ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The 12th Annual Pharmacogenetics in Psychiatry Meeting will be held in conjunction with NCDEU, an Annual Meeting of the ASCP. While the venue has changed, the annual Pharmacogenetics in Psychiatry meeting will continue to provide a forum for the presentation and discussion of new developments in the rapidly developing field of psychiatric pharmacogenetics. Previous meetings have been highlighted by discussion of topics including: prediction of clinical response to antipsychotic drugs, genes associated with the development of adverse side effects, candidate gene and genome-wide association (GWAS) studies of antidepressant response, the identification of new polymorphisms influencing gene product function, and novel statistical approaches to dissect the heterogeneity of drug response. Moreover, we have brought together investigators working in diverse areas of psychiatric research, from molecular geneticists to clinical trial investigators, from academia and industry, in order to engender true interdisciplinary approaches to the problem of variation in clinical response to psychotropic drugs.
